Key Takeaways

While Jamaica does not have widely publicized manufacturers of fiber optic adapters, several local companies supply, install, and maintain fiber optic components, including adapters. Key Companies in Jamaica

TELiCON Group provides comprehensive telecommunication services, including fiber optic network design, installation, and maintenance. They offer IT infrastructure and network cabling solutions, which may include fiber optic adapters as part of their service packages. Diginet Jamaica specializes in structured cabling and networking solutions, offering fiber optic components, telephony systems, and network switches. They distribute certified products with long-term warranties, making them a reliable source for fiber optic adapters and related equipment. Anixter Jamaica is a supplier of fiber optic adapters and cabling infrastructure. They provide various types of adapters suitable for networking applications, serving as a direct source for purchasing these components. Traffic Control Products Company Limited (TCP) focuses on fiber optic network installation and maintenance, alongside wireless systems and traffic signal technologies. While primarily a service provider, TCP supports fiber optic infrastructure projects and may supply adapters as part of their installations.
