

Maldives Relay Protection Tester Brands

Overview

Multitec Maldives is a mechanical and electrical company providing a wide range of goods and services based on customized orders.

Key Takeaways

Leading relay protection tester brands available in the Maldives include MEGGER, SIEMENS, Huazheng, and OMICRON, with local distribution through companies like Multitec Maldives.

- MEGGER: Offers the FREJA and SMRT relay test sets, supporting IEC 61850 networks, automated testing, and asset management software for comprehensive relay protection evaluation .
- SIEMENS: Provides a range of microcomputer and digital relay testers suitable for substations and industrial power systems .
- Huazheng: Manufactures portable and multi-phase relay protection test sets, including devices for primary and secondary injection testing .
- OMICRON: Known for modular, multi-phase protection relay test sets, supporting both conventional and IEC 61850 digital substations, with accessories like LLX1 for sensor simulation .

Features to Consider

- Phase Support: Single-phase, three-phase, or six-phase outputs for voltage and current testing .
- Portability: Compact and portable designs for field testing .

- Software Integration: Automated calibration, fault playback, report generation, and IEC 61850 compatibility .

- Output Range: AC and DC outputs with adjustable current and voltage levels for various relay types .

Local Supplier

- Multitec Maldives: A mechanical and electrical company providing customized orders and distribution of electrical testing equipment, potentially including relay protection testers .

Summary

For professionals in the Maldives, MEGGER, SIEMENS, Huazheng, and OMICRON are the most recognized brands for relay protection testers, offering advanced features for both conventional and digital substations. Local procurement can be facilitated through Multitec Maldives, which can provide support, customization, and delivery within the region.
